The O'Brien's Fight Back

Lecture by Tadg Farrell on July 2nd in the Lakeside Hotel, Ballina/Killaloe at 7:30pm. Tadg lives in East Clare and is an Irish Research Council funded PhD candidate at Trinity College, Dublin. His work focuses on the connection between climate change and the conflict in medieval Ireland. By the year 1300, English power in Ireland looked to be unshakable, yet by 1400 the Gaelic Irish had made a dramatic comeback. His talk examines how economic, social and political shifts allowed the O'Briens, descendants of Brian Ború, to throw off the yoke of English lordship and reshape Irish politics during the fourteenth century. Admission is Free and all are welcome!

Reflection

The Feast of Saints Peter and Paul, celebrated on this Sunday, June 29th, reminds us of the diverse paths to faith and the unity found in Christ.

Peter, the fisherman, and Paul, the scholar, each experienced unique encounters with Jesus, yet both became pillars of the early Church, spreading the Gospel with unwavering devotion.

Their lives, though distinct, highlight the power of forgiveness, the importance of witness, and the enduring strength found in unity within the Church, even amidst diversity.
